

The Traveling Cheesehead Visits

Hosted by Dannelle Gay

The Traveling Cheesehead Visits is a regionally syndicated travel series that explores destinations through the stories, flavors, and people that bring them to life.

Hosted by travel journalist and storyteller Dannelle Gay, the show moves beyond scenic highlights to uncover the heart of a place — connecting viewers to its culture, history, and community.

Each episode blends food, heritage, and real conversations with locals — from chefs and historians to artisans and veterans — revealing how a destination's past shapes its present.

Rather than simply showing where to go, the series answers:
👉 Why does this place matter?

Through meaningful experiences and authentic voices, viewers gain a deeper understanding of the places they visit — and inspiration to engage with them in a more personal way.
